14. INDEMNIFICATION:

- 14.1. If someone makes a claim against you or an end user that any program infringes their intellectual property rights, Oracle will indemnify you and the end user against the claim if you do the following:
 - Notify the General Counsel, Oracle Legal Department, promptly in writing, not later than 30 days after you receive notice of the claim (or sooner if required by law); and
 - Give Oracle the information, authority, and assistance Oracle needs to defend against or settle the claim

If Oracle believes or it is determined that any of the programs may have violated someone else's intellectual property rights, Oracle may choose to either modify the program to be non-infringing (while substantially preserving its utility or functionality) or obtain a license to allow for continued use, or if these alternatives are not commercially reasonable, Oracle may end the license for the applicable program and refund any fees you may have paid for it and any unused prepaid technical support fees you have paid for the license. Oracle will not indemnify you or an end user if you or an end user alter a program or use it outside the scope of use identified in the user documentation or if you or an end user use a version of the program which Oracle will not indemnify you to the extent that an infringement claim is based upon third party programs or ancillary programs. If someone makes a claim against Oracle that a program, when used in combination with any product or services provided by you, infringes their intellectual property rights, and such claim would have been avoided by the exclusive use of the program, you will indemnify Oracle. This section provides your exclusive remedy for any infringement claims or damages.
